Liza is a young Canadian archaeologist who goes to Santa Rosalia, Sicily to perform excavations on an archaeological site of Greek culture. However, it is fascinated by a medieval monastery, located at the top of the village hill. The legend that circulates in Santa Rosalia tells of five nuns who were crucified in the catacombs of the convent five hundred years earlier as they devoted to Satanism and unbridled sexual acts. Liza will find the crypt where the sisters' crucified skeletons are still and awaken the spirits, which at this point begin committing crimes in the country.
